

Cein.

Cape Town alternative indie artist with roots in folk songwriting. Sounds of nostalgia and the essence of time.

BIOGRAPHY

With the likes of Bob Dylan, Van Morrison and Jimi Hendrix echoing through her childhood home, Ceinwen developed an early connection to music and a strong drive to write her own.

She is a Cape Town–based alternative indie artist with roots in folk songwriting. She began writing at 13, soon after learning guitar, and has since shaped a sound built on honest lyrics and stripped-back storytelling. Her music sits between folk songwriting and a more atmospheric, modern indie sound.

Big Blue

Out now

‘Big Blue’ is the new single from Cein. Being an independent musician these days is tough. We’re competing with a tidal wave of AI-generated music, battling social media algorithms and trying to get heard without spending a fortune on promotion.

ABOUT, CONTINUED

Alongside her music, she creates her own music videos and draws on a strong interest in poetry and visual storytelling. Her work focuses on real experiences of grief, growth and resilience, told in a way that feels direct and honest.

Lightyears of Grace
